- Checking analysis specifications for both tabulated data and online reporting tools
- Assisting with the preparation and delivery of client presentations
- Liaising and developing relationships with both clients and supplier contacts
- Collating costs and assisting with proposal preparation
- Compiling reports and writing commentary including summaries and recommendations
- Desk research with regard to hotel brand development and hotel industry and economic background in markets where the survey is conducted

Skills / Experience / Competences

The successful candidate, who will be a graduate with a strong degree from a reputable academic institution, is likely to have had some exposure to a research agency environment and must have the following attributes:

- Outstanding organisational skills and an aptitude for juggling involvement in various markets of a tracking study simultaneously
- Demonstrable ability to work to deadlines and to manage competing priorities
- High level of competence in working with both Excel and PowerPoint
- Excellent written English
- An eye for detail, in particular the ability to spot irregularities in data and to establish the source of the problem
- Ability to interpret and synthesise data and to articulate the business implications
- Good interpersonal skills that will facilitate strong working relationships with team members, external partners and clients
- Ambition and drive to learn and progress in the organisation

Desirable additional experience includes:

- Working in a research agency environment
- Multi-country tracking studies
- Online data collection methodologies and consumer panels
- Fluency or competence in a second language
- SPSS or another data analysis platform
- Any background or experience of the hospitality or leisure sectors

Further Details
